FOREWORD

Initially compiled in connection with an exhibit at the Library of Congress in the fall of 1968 observing the 30th anniversary of Atatürk's death and the 45th anniversary of the Turkish Republic, this bibliography has been expanded and its publication scheduled to coincide with the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the Turkish Republic. It responds to a wide need for a bibliography on contemporary Turkey, providing the librarian, the student, and the researcher in this country and elsewhere with a basic research instrument.

Included are books and periodical articles in western languages dealing with Kemal Atatürk (1881-1938), the founder and first president (1923-38) of the Republic of Turkey, and with Turkey under his leadership. Turkish-language materials are not included, because there are several extensive bibliographies on the subject in that language, e.g., Muzaffer Gökman's Atatürk ve Devrimleri Tarihi Bibliyografyası (Istanbul, 1968), which also includes some western-language materials but fewer than this compilation.

The bibliography comprises 1,338 entries representing 560 books and 778 articles, located in 191 serial publications. Articles dealing with the period 1919-38, whether published during that time or later, are included. There are 57 entries authored by Turks as well as 16 issued from official Turkish sources. Only 106 entries are not located in the Library of Congress. The majority of items deal with the political life of Turkey during the Kemalist era; however, writings on history, geography, religion, economics, population, society, and education are also included. The entries are arranged alphabetically by author where known and otherwise by title. If the item is held by the Library of Congress, the call number is given.

The extensive subject index is based on key words selected from the titles to indicate the main subject of the book or article. Some subjects not appearing in the title have been listed to further help the reader locate the information he is seeking. To do this the content of the entries was searched, particularly for the names of the leading personalities that had a role in the Turkey of Atatürk. As an example, although the name of Rauf Orbay, a navy captain and a prime minister, does not appear in a title, he is the subject of an article, and therefore his name is indexed.

The periodicals searched for relevant articles are listed before the index. Mention should be made in this connection that only articles dealing with the period covered by the bibliography were searched for, whether these were published during that same period or later.
